Index-1 Cede & Co. And The Ever Rising Stock Market. Source 12/26/21

Note: This article shows the Con awaiting anyone who thinks they hold stocks or bonds as investments.

First let's discuss the history of Recording Deeds, Mortgages and Promissory Notes.

The English battle of Hastings in 1066 ended with rights being given to common people by the king. One such right was in order to repossess land due to non-payment on a mortgage, the original mortgage and note must be presented in court. This is still our law.

Until around 1880, people hid their deeds, mortgages and notes at home. A fire could make them lose their land as well. Then county governments realized they could make money recording and certifying those documents for the courts; their word was good. But recording was, and is not, required. The penalty for not recording an instrument is if another instrument is recorded before yours, regardless of the date they were signed, the first recorded instrument is in line legally ahead of you. You get the shut out.

So if you fail to record your deed, the original seller can sell the property again and that buyer can record his deed, making him recognized by law as the rightful land owner. Thus everybody started recording instruments. This benefited the counties because now they knew who to bill for land taxes annually. So this is why people record instruments at the county court houses. The recording satisfies the Battle of Hastings requirement to produce the original documents. A certified copy from the county suffices.

Now let's discuss MERS, the Mortgage Electronic Registry Service. They were incorporated in 1996 due to the new practice of big Wall Street banks boxing up thousands of mortgages and selling them as Mortgage Backed Securities. The bankers knew they would be sold over and over again to investors. The bankers did not want to record each of the thousands of individual mortgages in the boxes in each land owners county and pay the fees. So they had a corporation record them in a spreadsheet noting the location of the original documents in various offices around the U.S. So when the box was resold they just updated their spreadsheet by assigning the docs to the new bond holder company. Such a simple world now.

Here's the shortfall of that system though. Before MERS, investors were always given the original docs to hold in their hands. Now they have been trained to accept photo-copied docs which are not legal original documents. Once the bankers got rolling they ran extra copies of the illegal docs and sold them too. So there may be five people that hold five different mortgages on your home without you knowing about it. All five can try to collect from you. Now the banks were openly cheating the world.

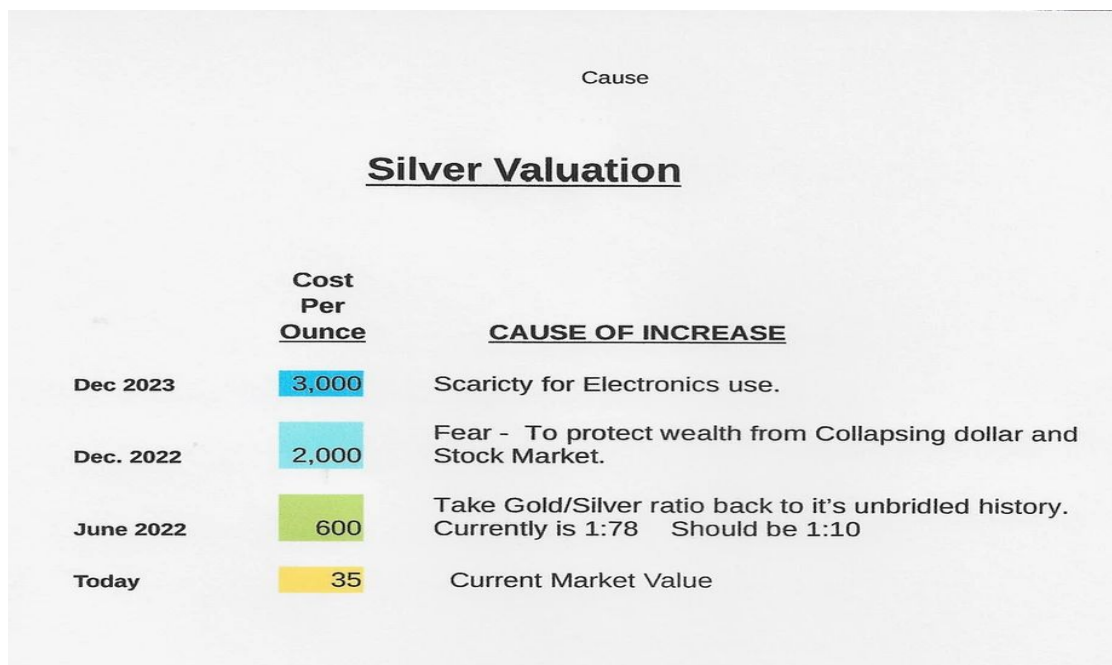

Around 2011 MERS went bankrupt. All the records in mini warehouses were hauled off to landfills after non-payment of rent. Judges and lawyers were reluctant to uphold the original documents requirement because it would destroy the bankers and the pension funds that own those boxes. If one really pushed an attorney they would play fair. I have a very close relative in that situation. I explained to her the above and advised her to push an attorney for the original documents when she could not pay her mortgage. She has been in her home and has been making partial payments for the past seven years. She cannot be foreclosed on so the investors hope she will sell the home someday and pay off the mortgage. That’s all they can do is hope. All the above is what killed the global economic system in ‘08 - ‘09 and why today everywhere you look in the financial world you can expect to see rampant fraud, intentionally created.

Now let’s talk about Cede & Company. This corporation was founded in the same year (1996) as MERS was for a similar reason. Instead of registering and re-registering stocks and bonds as was the practice in order to deliver those “receipts of ownership” to the owners, the stock market simplified the system. All stocks are registered to Cede & Co. who holds them in their name. They then keep a giant spreadsheet on who the individual owner of the day is. Now come the investment funds we purchase stocks from. They take our money and post in their spreadsheet you have 10 shares of stock. The stock held by Cede is assigned to your brokerage house. But what happens if either your broker or Cede go out of business? You are simply a creditor of that broker and have no contractual relationship with Cede & Company, therefore you can’t get your stock from Cede. All records will be lost. The bankers have just screwed you and the pension funds again.

This is why the federal government is committing fraud to print worthless digital money to prop up the stock market – its to keep the fools in the dark about the giant Ponzi schemes the bankers and government created. This is why several big financial advisers have been predicting for a few years that the stock market will continually go up in price until one day no one will care. They won’t care because no one will have the stocks in hand or know who owns what or how many people bought the same share of stock. It too, like MERS, is a Gordian knot that can never be unraveled. In the end, all of us victims will be holding Confederate dollars to show our Grand-Kids.

Index-2 Silver Valuation Chart

These are the reasons for silver prices to skyrocket.

Index-3 Future Silver Valuations For Stackers.

This is my projection on Silver for you stackers out there. But first let's get a few things straight.

I am assuming the White Hats win and the CABAL loses control over the price manipulation.

I also assume the banks will collapse by year end and there will be no one to make payments to on your bank loans. The legal system will be down so there is no one to sue you for a year or so. In the meantime, in regards to your home mortgage, when the banks do try to repossess you have the right to make the back payments and that stops the suit. By the time that happens stackers are rolling in money.

When you whip out your calculator be aware that there will be no interest to add to your investment monthly as it will earn no interest. Also there is no inflation or Cost of Living Adjustments to reduce the balance by because that will not be in our future with the CABAL gone. There will only be price increases due to demand.

Now these are my best guesses as to Cost per Ounce and Timelines. The bottom line begins with the valuation today. Today's valuation is taken from the delivery price at JM Bullion for a purchase of 100 ounces, by credit card, divided by 100. If you buy local you can get it cheaper but I don't have time to call the local merchant every day so I use this method. That tells me the street value.

The last line begins with today. It does not matter to me how much you paid for it.

	Value Per Ounce
Qtr 2, 2024	$3,000
Qtr 1, 2024	3,000
Qtr 4, 2023	3,000
Qtr 3, 2023	2,714
Qtr 2, 2023	2,500
Qtr 1, 2023	2,250
Qtr 4, 2022	2,000
Qtr 3, 2022	1,300
Qtr 2, 2022	600
Qtr 1, 2022	34

All silver experts say that once price controls disappear mathematical the price will jump to $600 per ounce to take the forever history ration back to it's roots due to the quantity on the planet. So the $600 is kinda guaranteed right off. From there it's just educated guesses.

Now for the hard part. The above prices are stated in today's dollars. But as the dollar collapses those prices will also go up due to hyperinflation. So just view the above prices in today's world only and at today's dollar and inflation staying the same. I hope all of this is clear. Just look at this happening at various hours in today's world in today only. This gives you a feel of your spending ability in the future because these prices will go up from inflation as will the cost of goods. So in your mind just stay in today walking into Sears with an ounce of silver and buying . . .

Also be aware that a savvy stacker may try to never sell or trade away an ounce as the price continues to sky rocket. He might borrow funds from a bank with several ounces held by the banker as collateral.

Now keep in mind most banks will collapse early (but not Credit Unions). So as the price skyrockets withdraw some ounces from the loan collateral as the banker no longer needs it. This protects you as the prices soar and the probability of the bank becoming bankrupt and you not being able to get your silver back. You reduce your risk to a bare minimum.

Index-5 Fuckee Youee

In this morning's post of Florida's Governor Ron DeSantis in December calling for a review of all state funds invested in Chinese companies, including the State Pension fund. This is true financial responsibility during this time of chaos and undeclared economic war. This is also an acknowledgment of this war by the state of Florida.

For those of you who saw the movie, The Big Short, detailing the 2007 – 2009 financial collapse and bank bailout due to fraud in the housing market, you need to know this. The Sub-Prime mortgage market on Wall Street was fraudulently held at a credit rating of "AAA", the highest bond rating possible. Even as the market crashed they were still rated as "AAA".

The question now is whatever happened to those mortgage bonds described as "Dog shit wrapped in cat shit"? Well, as your luck would have it, by law pension funds must invest in "AAA" rated investments only. Those cat shit wrapped bonds are in your 401k and other pension fund plans, including your state pensions.

Then know that during that time China bought bankrupt US corporations, moved under their shells, and continued to use their existing registration on Wall Street. They refilled those companies with their own investments (Evergrande type?) and pulled in the US financing for their projects in China.

In case you have been busy, China is the country that last month said to the world "The hell with international law, we will not allow Evergrande (our companies) to pay foreign bond holders that have a legal right to the company's assets. [The Chinese word for this is "Fuckee Youee".]

So again, this is not a political move on Florida's part. It's getting the horses out of the burning barn on the double!

Index-6 "When Do You Think It's Going To Happen?"

I just got a call with that as the question. I had to whittle the question down from 5 ways it could be answered to just the financial meaning to the question.

My answer was look at the most probable time lines over the next few weeks and then one may be able to see for themselves.

February 13th. The US truckers may block entry to the Super Bowl. If they do it will focus the entire world on a global war with the elites, with battle lines drawn up in both Canada and the US. I believe the Superbowl will be the target because it will be like a commando raid, in and out in one day before authorities can react. It will be a tremendous gain for just one day of risk.

That brings us to February 14th. The Fed Reserve board has called for an emergency meeting to do something with interest rates. No matter what they do it will cause havoc on our financial condition in the US. Also on the 14th truck lock downs begin across Europe. So next week will certainly cause destruction to the MSN Media as the world sees a global war against the elite that wish to kill us. They will be dead on the vine.

On February 21st, President's day, Trump will bring up his new Truth Social platform to compete with Facebook, Tweet, you tube, etc. Well, you know trump, he doesn't dick around. He will not be sending you a hot dog and beer in the mail for signing up. No sir, he will make explosive announcements and save the postage. Those announcements will do more damage to the Elite and the Banksters. This will put tremendous pressure on the MSN Media.

Then on March 1st the US truckers will make their way to the DC area.

So if you quickly scan this timeline you will see the central governments surrounded in their castles without supplies. The Central governments are now under siege.

By the end of February we will probably see the dollar in even more trouble, the stock market perhaps in trouble and precious metals breaking free. As much as I hate to mention Cryptos, the attack on GoFundMe and possibly GiftSendGo, the sheeple have every reason to run to metals or cryptos so the state can't take your money because you don't conform.

All of this will begin the death blow to the Banksters. Credit ends. There is more shortage of food and supplies because of the sieges. People will be in shock.
